Flynn Forest

Flynn Forest loves getting out into the great outdoors to learn. Whether this is the woods, the school field, or even just the corner of the playground - it doesn't matter. By getting outside, Flynn wants you to build your resilience and learn how to work as a team. He wants you to take sensible risks and explore the outdoor areas around you.

By taking part in this outdoor learning, Flynn hopes that you will build your confidence and self-esteem, as well as improving your imagination, and that this will help you to learn inside the classroom too.
